USER GUIDE AND NOTES

UNID - Unidentified User

COMREP - Community Repeater - Shared Users

CBS - Common Base Station - Shared Users

UK WIDE - Allocation covers whole of UK (Similar to National Usage)

NATIONAL USAGE - Used accross the UK

FM - Frequency Modulation (Most Common PMR Mode of Operation)

AM - Amplitude modulation (Mode of Operation, most common in AIR use)

WFM - Wide Frequency Modulation
(Most Common with Broadcast Radio and wireless short range devices/Mics)

TX - Transmit Frequency, Usually the preffered one to monitor

RX - Recieve Frequency

UKADR - United Kingdom Air Defense Region

USAFE - United States Air Forces in Europe

DIG - DIGITAL MODES (Mototrbo/Tetra/DMR/dPMR etc.)

FAC - Forward air control

JFMG - JFMG is the dedicated band manager for TV, Entertainment, Studios and Special events

OFCOM CH NUMBERS - These are simply channel allocations for PBR radio, they are not used by ofcom they are allocated by Ofcom to the users

MPT1327 - Trunking system, one or many shared users using a group of frequencies. Any scanner can hear and monitor these transmissions, however for busy trunk nets a trunk tracker type scanner is beneficial as it can follow conversations by one certain user from one frequency to another instead of relying on your scanner to pick out channels at random.

How do I search the directory?

This directory is a standard text file which can be opened in NOTEPAD. In notepad click on EDIT and then click FIND. Type in what you are looking for, click FIND NEXT to move on to the next entry. Remember to be wise with keywords, for example if looking for a Bus service in Stockport try all connecting areas as listings are made different and some services are regional, so if your searching for something in STOCKPORT also try CHESHIRE and MANCHESTER.

Also remember some local radio users will be using national frequencies (the same from area to area) so bear in mind the NATIONAL USAGE and UK WIDE Frequencies. This is The Main UK Scanning Directory File which is updated often but for the latest daily updated files please see the other listed by frequency files in this section on the disc (titled by frequency range and month).

Who are we?

We are a close-knit group of radio amateurs, SWL listeners, family and friends who enjoy what we do and are committed to what we do. We are a not for profit group and all money after costs is shared between members for radio equipment. Our directory is updated daily by the team, so please stay up to date and support us by getting the latest up to date copy from: ukscanningdirectory.co.uk
